

BPL seems like it will be a source of a lot of low band RF noise, many emergency services still use the HF bands for communications. Most are equipped with low power portables and mobiles. An increase in RF in the lower bands may well hamper an already strained communications system.